

2006 Clarendelle Blanc 75 cl. bottle

Clarendelle Blanc reflects the subtle, well-balanced structure of white wines from Domaine Clarence Dillon. It features all the complexity and mystery of its illustrious cousins.

While most white wines are made from a single grape variety, such as Chardonnay, Clarendelle Blanc is a skillful blend of the three traditional Bordeaux varieties. This blend brings out the best and most complementary characteristics of each one to create a whole that is greater than the sum of its parts.

The 2006 vintage:

2006 was an unusual year, with very high temperatures in July and September, a cool month of August, and fairly heavy rain in mid-September. This was one of the hottest vintages in the past decade.

Alternating wet and very hot periods meant that the harvest was very spread out, lasting nearly two months!

The results were quite good, and this was once again a vintage in which the experience and know-how of individual winegrowers made all the difference. Those who practiced leaf thinning and bunch thinning were very successful.

The Sémillon and Muscadelle grapes from the southern Graves ripened slowly, but fully, producing wines with beautiful citrus aromas and a very smooth flavor.

Grape varieties:

44 % Sauvignon Blanc

46 % Sémillon

10% Muscadelle

Tasting notes for 2006 Clarendelle:

Clarendelle Blanc is fruity, fresh, and very aromatic, with an elegant mineral quality. Featuring hints of ripe peaches and a touch of menthol, the attractive aftertaste lasts a long time.
